connecting people celebrating life

There was a time when people used to believe that it is not important to be happy to succeed in life be it career, institution or organization, only one has to focus on work, productivity, and hard labour to succeed. However times have changed and the Emotion quotient and happiness at work have been recognized as a vital factor for success. Organisations and Institutions have increasingly focused on increasing the happiness quotient of their employees, students and teachers, to make theirs a Happy place to work ,where everyone enjoys his or her work and assignment.

We want to celebrate those individuals/ organizations and Institutions, who have demonstrated exemplary leadership attributes, in promoting happiness and creating ,a sustainable ,healthy and happy place to study /work.

Specific objectives of the Awards are:

- ◆ Recognizing organizations ,Institutions and Individuals, that are game changers, and strive to excel in promoting happiness and making work enjoyable.
- ◆ Promote and share Best Practices and celebrate the achievements of winning Institutes/ organizations and appreciating the journey undertaken by them for benefit of all Institutes/ Organizations that have applied for Awards.

Society for Happiness

The Society for Happiness is a not-for-profit NGO established in 2016 to create a global family of like-minded people and organisations with positive vibes, willing to share and spread happiness. Our purpose is to make the world a better place to live in happy healthy and stress free environment. It is for this reason that we chose to recognize the Schools, Colleges and Institutes and their leaders, who have worked to transform their organization, into an oasis of smiling and stress free faces and students enjoying studies and celebrating life. This will also help Schools and Colleges to have a review of their policies and practices through Happiness audit ,and showcase to the community, their approach to develop a happy stress free society and students geared up to take the challenges of ever changing society with positive attitude.
